

Dear Families,

I'm excited to invite you to partner with me to support your child's learning! Our school is participating in a new text message program called FASTalk (Families and Schools Talk) from Family Engagement Lab, a nonprofit. Each week, I will send three text messages with easy tips to help your child's reading and writing at home. These fun activities directly support the knowledge and skills your child is learning in the classroom.

Here's a quick look at the type of messages you will receive:

All you need to participate is a cell phone!

You can also reply and send text messages to me through FASTalk in your preferred language.

Your phone number and personal information will never be shared. While there is no cost to sign up, data & message rates may apply. If you want to unsubscribe, you can text 'STOP' at any time.

Thank you!
